13. All animals exhibited must have been completely and fully owned, including all showing rights, and in complete possession and continual care of the exhibitor by June 1 or other specified date. Ownership is considered lost if, after June 1 or designated date of the current year, the animal has been consigned or sold through any type of transaction even if the exhibitor "buys back" his animal. No substitution of horse projects is allowed after the horse registration deadline for any reason. Breeding projects may be owned through a partnership of which the exhibitor is a partner or leased according to Junior Fair rules. 17. All animals must be registered or high-quality grade livestock, and any animal not suitable for exhibition will be disqualified. The judge will be final authority in such cases.
18. All animals must be properly castrated by species deadlines, or they will not show or sell. Castration is defined to mean the absence of any "testicle, mass, matter or tissue". This includes beef, sheep, swine, goats, and feeder calves.
19. Cattle, sheep, and dairy goats must be dehorned.
20. Animals must be continuously secured while in their stalls (including feeder calves.)
21. Equipment for feeding and watering livestock must be furnished by the exhibitors. Each Junior Fair exhibitor will be expected to care for his livestock regularly throughout the fair, keeping pens properly bedded and aisles cleared at all times for visitors. Junior Fair exhibitors may use straw, sawdust, or shavings for bedding, with the exception of the hog barn. ONLY shavings or sawdust may be used in the hog barn.
22. The exhibitor is responsible for cleaning their stalls, pens and/or cages prior to leaving fair. Absolutely NO pens in the hog barn are to be cleaned during the hog sale.
23. All Junior Fair animal exhibitors will be required to have a sign with their name and club or chapter displayed in a place clearly identifying each pen or stall to which they are assigned. Signs are provided by the Junior Fair Board.
24. Personal scales may be in the barn and used prior to the official weigh-ins. They must be removed one hour prior to the start of the species weigh-in.
25. All exhibitors must show and sell their own livestock unless excused by the Junior Fair Board before judging or the sale begins. In the event an exhibitor has more than one animal in the same class, a current Junior Fair member eligible to exhibit will be chosen by the member to show the remaining animal.
26. All market animals must be shown in the show arena, both during the show and sale, or they will not be permitted to sell. There will be no substitution of animals for sale if an animal is disqualified or cannot go through the sale for any reason. If a champion cannot sale, no animal moves up to fill that position.
27. All market animals will be shown by weights. They will be weighed and ranked from lightest to heaviest.
28. Each exhibitor is responsible for getting his/her animals weighed and tagged for show and sale at the date designated by Junior Fair Board. Anyone not having their animals weighed at the designated time will not be eligible for show or sale.
29. Each large animal exhibitor will be required to designate at least one animal in his/her name. A family can tag an additional two animals of that species per Junior Fair member as "family" animals. Each exhibitor will have access to no more than three total animals in that species, including "family" animals. State Fair steers and heifers cannot be registered as a family animal. Market rabbit exhibitors must tattoo in 1 pen (2 rabbits) in his/her name. A family can tattoo one additional pen of rabbits as a "family" pen. Each exhibitor will have access to no more than two pens of market rabbits, including "family" pens. This rule does not apply to market poultry. Family is defined as junior fair eligible youth who are legally siblings, half-siblings or stepsiblings.
30. Animals entered into the Fair must remain on the fairgrounds until officially released. Exhibitors may not leave the fairgrounds with an animal to exercise it or prepare it for show. Winners from all the species showmanship divisions (junior, intermediate, senior, etc.) and showman or showmen winners from previous years are eligible to compete for showman or showmen.
32. Any artificial means of removing or remedying the physical defects or conformation in livestock such as cutting, ties or lifting or filling under the skin will be considered fraud and deception. The use of an artificial tailhead or altering the colors of animals shall be considered fraud and deception. Absolutely no coloring or painting is allowed. All animals giving evidence of such treatment will not be permitted to show.
  33. As Junior Fair activities are designed to involve family and community, during the fair, immediate family members (defined as mother, father, brother, sister, grandparent, uncle or aunt of an exhibitor by marriage or by law), primary residents in the Ohio Valley School District, the Manchester Local School District, or approved advisors and instructors may assist in the care and preparation of livestock. Projects in violation may be dismissed from showing.
  34. All ear tags must be removed from market animals prior to fair weigh-in except for Adams County, approved EID tags, scrapie tags, and premise ID tags.
  35. In all animal shows with divisions, the division champion will be selected from the winners of each class in the division. The division reserve champion will be selected from the remaining class winners in that division and the second-place animal in the class from which the champion was selected. The overall grand champion will be selected from the division winners. The overall reserve champion will be selected from the remaining division winners and the reserve champion of the division from which the grand champion was selected. If there are no divisions, the overall grand champion will be selected from the winners of each class in the show, and the overall reserve champion will be selected from the remaining class winners and the second-place animal in the class from which the grand champion was selected.
  36. Completed and signed Drug Use Notification Forms (DUNFs) must be submitted for Junior Fair market beef, market lambs, market hogs, market goats, lactating dairy cattle, lactating dairy goats, market turkeys and ducks, production and meat pens of poultry. A separate form must be completed for EACH animal (or pen of chickens). All animals for which DUNFs are submitted must be free of drug residue by 11:00 A.M. on Saturday, prior to the start of the Livestock Sale. DUNFs must be signed by the exhibitor. If the exhibitor is under 18, the form must also be signed by a parent or legal guardian. Completed and signed forms will be collected at the fair weigh-in or check-in. Refer to species-specific rules for dates and times.
  37. A new DUNF must be completed if an animal is medicated during the fair. The administration of such medications must be done under the direction of the fair veterinarian. Any animal medicated during the fair for which the withdrawal time will not expire by 11:00 A.M. on Saturday will not be permitted to show if treated prior to the species show. Any animal medicated during the fair for which the withdrawal time will not expire by 11:00 A.M. on Saturday will not be permitted to sell through the Livestock Sale. Such animals must return to their home farm; they may not be sold to the stockyards, shipped to a processor, or sold through the Livestock Sale.
  38. Testing for drugs: The Adams County Agricultural Society will test Grand and Reserve Champion market beef, swine, goats, and lambs immediately after the show and reserves the right to examine and test any other suspect animal to determine if an illegal substance has been administered to the animal to change the confirmation or temperament of the animal. Livestock exhibited in a market show must be free of all unlawful substances at the time of the show, or the exhibitor must have submitted a DUNF documenting that the animal will be free of drug residue prior to the start of the Livestock Sale on Saturday. The withdrawal period of all drugs must expire prior to the start of the Livestock Sale, and all drug residues must be within the tolerance levels authorized or recommended by the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) by that time and date. The Adams County Agricultural Society reserves the right to test animals shown by exhibitors in showmanship immediately following their showmanship class.
  39. Any 4-H member exhibiting an animal on the fairgrounds must have a Livestock Exhibitor's Agreement on file at the Extension office by February 15; FFA members must file their Livestock Exhibitor's Agreements with their advisors by February 15.
  40. Enrollment and entry/registration deadlines will be strictly enforced. Check event and species-specific rules for entry/registration deadlines.

41. Check species-specific rules for animal release times. No large animals, including goats, sheep, beef and dairy cattle, and horses may be loaded out between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. on Friday or between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Saturday.
42. The Senior and Junior Fair Boards will not be accountable for any article lost, stolen or damaged during the fair. They will not be accountable for any damage or injury to persons or property by any exhibitor, patron or employee.
43. Exhibitors must take care of their animals on a regular basis for the entire time they are housed at the fairgrounds, including providing clean, dry bedding and providing ample food and water in a timely manner. Junior Fair Board members and advisors will routinely patrol the barns and tag pens, stalls, and cages with a warning if animals do not appear to be receiving adequate care. If a pen, stall, or cage receives three tags, the exhibitor will be asked to remove the animal(s) from the fairgrounds, and the exhibitor will no longer be eligible to sell any animals in the current year's fair.
44. The Junior Fair pen inspections will be conducted by the Junior Fair species committee chair and co-chair, accompanied by at least one Senior Fair Board member or Junior Fair Board advisor.
45. All suggestions and recommendations for next year's Junior Fair rule changes, changes in procedures or management of shows and activities, or changes to or addition of new awards and trophies must be submitted in writing to the Junior Fair Board office during the current year's fair or to the Extension office on or before October 1 for consideration by the Junior Fair Board.
46. Protests and Appeals:
  - a) Disputes, protests, or other issues that pertain to Junior Fair must first be brought to the attention of the Junior Fair Board advisors and members. If warranted, the Junior Fair Board or its Executive Committee and Advisors will consider and decide Junior Fair issues.
  - b) Further appeal or protests must be made in writing, signed by party/parties making the protest and filed with Senior Fair Board by 12 noon of the day following the award or show being protested. Protest must be accompanied by a $500.00 fee, which will be retained by the Senior Fair Board if the protest is not sustained. Protest/appeal forms are available at the Junior Fair office.
47. A violation of the above rules shall be handled by a director or directors of the Senior Fair Board, who in their sole discretion, may dispose of the matter as said director or directors deem appropriate, according to the written rules.

PREMIUMS AND AWARDS

1. All livestock exhibits will be placed from first through last place consecutively in each class. In classes designated for underweight or overweight animals, the judge will place the class, but no ribbons, rosettes, or awards will be given. Winners of all other classes, division winners, and overall grand and reserve champion winners will receive ribbons and awards determined by the Junior Fair Board as sponsorship allows.
2. One premium per exhibitor will be paid per class in breeding classes up to a maximum of two premiums in each breeding species. See species-specific rules for premium amounts.
3. Market animals are not eligible for premiums.
4. Horse exhibitors will receive a $6.00 premium per horse: maximum of two premiums per exhibitor.
5. Non-livestock projects: 4-H members should bring their completed non-livestock projects to pre-fair or make-up judging, with the exception of woodworking, welding, and crop projects, which will be judged during shop and crop judging at the fair. The judges will designate each project as Superior, Excellent, Very Good, Good, or Fair. Premiums will be awarded only to those non-livestock projects that are exhibited at the Adams County Fair. Project completion premiums will be awarded to qualifying projects as follows: Superior and Excellent - $2.00; Very Good and Good - $1.50; Fair - $1.00.
6. All premiums will be paid after the fair with a check from the Senior Fair Board to each club that had members who qualify. This will include club booth premiums.

ADAMS COUNTY JUNIOR FAIR DRESS CODE

In all shows and both Friday and Saturday sale, ALL exhibitors must wear clean clothes as listed below:

1. A button and collared shirt, buttoned within one button from the top.
2. Shirts must be tucked into pants, all the way around.
3. No logos on any shirt promoting any kind of advertisement (except shirt company logos).
4. No t-shirts.
5. Long pants. No shorts are permitted in the show or sale ring.
6. No distressed jeans permitted.
7. No skin is to be shown – midriff, legs, or chest area.
8. Closed-toe shoes must be worn. (For safety, hard-soled and hard-toed are best.)
9. Dairy goat and dairy cattle exhibitors MUST wear white in the show ring.
10. Rabbit and poultry exhibitors MUST wear white long-sleeved shirts or white lab-type coats while showing.

Failure to comply with the dress code will result in disqualification. The exhibitor and animal will be excused from the show ring for the duration of the class in which the exhibitor was found to have been inappropriately dressed. No placing will be awarded for that class.

LIVESTOCK SHOW AND SALE CODE OF ETHICS

For all market animal exhibitors and their parents.

1. Follow all Junior Fair Rules.
2. Be cooperative with show committee, sale committee and fair officials.
3. Practice good sportsmanship in show arena, barns, and entire fairgrounds.
4. Offer a high-quality safe food product for sale. Do a good job of feeding and caring for your animals.
5. Invite prospective buyers to attend the sale. Do not depend upon somebody else to do this.
6. When inviting a prospective buyer, ask them to come and support the sale. Don't insist that the prospective buyer must buy your animal.
7. Remember, buyers sometimes bid on several animals before buying. Sometimes the bid goes beyond the limit the prospective buyer has set.
8. Never criticize a buyer for not buying your animal or your child's animal. This action will do more to keep the potential buyer away from future sales than any other action you can take.
9. Thank the buyer by writing a thank you note and purchasing Junior Fair BBQ tickets, a food booth certificate, or other small gift for the buyer. Thank you notes do more to bring back buyers than anything else. The purchase of BBQ tickets or food booth certificates helps improve Junior Fair facilities.
10. One buyer does not make a sale. Some potential buyers do a lot of bidding but end up with no animals. These people deserve a thank you also for supporting the sale.
11. Relatives or others should never attempt to run the bid up on buyers. This action can set a poor climate for the entire sale. The sale committee is attempting to run an honest sale and to get the highest dollar for each project sold.
12. Animals that exhibitors wish to show at another fair or show should never go through the sale ring. Market animals sold through Junior Fair auction change ownership when they are sold and are not eligible for any further Junior Show competition.
13. Approaching a buyer to buy back an animal to take to another show is unethical and is against the Junior Fair Rules of Ohio. To try to enter the animal in another Junior Fair Show is also unethical.
14. Professional showmen have no place assisting Junior showmen at Junior Fair Shows. A professional showman should only offer assistance to young showmen by giving fitting and grooming tips at countywide events, chapters, or home farm demonstrations.
15. Parent help should be limited to guiding and not doing the actual work.
